Art Unit: 1754

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 13-18 and 20-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gislason et al in view of Ino et al, for the reasons given in the last Office Action.

Claims 13-18 and 20-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ino et al in view of Gislason et al, for the reasons given in the last Office Action.

Claim 19 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gislason et al in view of Ino et al as applied to claim 13 above, and further in view of Shore et al. It would be further obvious from Shore et al to employ the system of Gislason et al in conjunction with a fuel cell.

Claim 19 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ino et al in view of Gislason et al as applied to claim 13 above, and further in view of Shore et al. It would be further obvious from Shore et al to employ the system of Ino et al in conjunction with a fuel cell.

Applicants' argument, that the prior Office Action fails to demonstrate that the particle size recited in the claims would necessarily result from the production method disclosed in Gislason et al, is not convincing, since the two methods are sufficiently similar that the burden shifts to applicants to show that the cerium oxide of Gislason et al would not have a mean crystallite size of 10 nm or less. (Compare col. 8, line 35 to col. 9, line 31 of Gislason et al with Paragraph [0057] of applicants' published application.)

Claim 29 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The recitation of "selected from the group consisting of...or" and "selected from among...and" is improper Markush terminology.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
